“I need to easily organise, edit and share large files”

Employer: Lorem Inc.

Background: Bachelors from Lorem University

Computer skills: Intermediate to Advanced

Lorem has been working with a company who pairs tutors to students around the globe. He publishes tutorials in advance for his students and gives them feedback during weekly live lessons. Twice a year, he invites students to a workshop in the UK where they play in a band and get a more traditional classroom style lesson and a behind the scenes look at music production in a London based studio.

The most important thing for him is the organization and sharing of large files as well as high quality real-time video and audio call services.

He doesn't mind the extra technical work on his half as long as the process is seamless for his students.
